

Profile: Maggie Donahue

Maggie Donahue, MS, LMT is a massage therapist and Preferred Practitioner member of the Society for Oncology Massage. A former educator, Maggie maintains a general private practice in Eugene, Oregon, serving clients with a variety of health conditions including cancer. For four years she served on the staff of the University of Oregon Health Center. She continues to provide massage at the University of Oregon to military Veterans through the Returning Veterans Project, a US-based non-profit organization. She works with William Collinge in leading workshops and retreats for cancer patients and their carers teaching the Touch, Caring and Cancer program.